"The Mary Ann", old Victor furnace.

Victor Clan 92nd Reunion

The 92nd annual reunion of the Victor clan (descendants of Otto Rhodes and Elizabeth Nease Victor) was held recently at the old Victor homestead, site of the Victor furnace, "The Mary Ann," at Haydentown.

The furnace, which was built in 1860, was acquired in 1884 by Joseph Victor, father of Otto Rhodes Victor.

Reunions of the furnace still stand and the old Victor homestead is now owned by George Louley, great-grandson of Otto R. Victor.

Attending the reunion were Mr. and Mrs. John T. Victor and daughters, Susan and Barbara, and Mrs. Sarah Victor, Harackville, Va.; Thelma P. Sisson, Pottsville, Pa.; Mrs. Harrison Price, Merwyn Price Sr., Mr. and Mrs. Paul Wallace, and Lynn and Lois Wallace, Uniontown.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Gudwin and children, Terry, Todd, Nancy, Tracy, and Joy

Antoni, Morgantown, W. Va.; Mr. and Mrs. Harry Miller and Jayne, Uniontown; Mrs. Betty Folk and Leslie Seiberling, Barboursville, Ohio; Pat, Alan, and Valerie Pate, Columbus, Ohio; George and Sally Cooley and Luan, Smithfield; Mr. and Mrs. Richard Jans, Pittsburgh; Mr. and Mrs. Phillip Gaug and Todd, Charleston, W. Va.; Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Victor and David Victor, Smithfield; Larry Victor, Bethel Park.

Other guests included: Edgar A. Cooley, Mr. and Mrs. Donald McCane, and Nellie Deffenbaugh, Smithfield; Raymond Oestrum and Harmons, Greg, Jesse, and John Denning, Vandergrift; Mrs. Clark Gorch, Tommy and Tracie Gorch, Mrs. Arthur McCann and Rose Kender, Apollo.

Gifts were awarded to Frank Miller, eldest present; Travis Gorch, youngest; Thelma Price Sisson, traveling farthest; Lawrence Victor, representative of largest family attending.

Army Has Technical Training

It's almost the getting two educations for the price of one.

According to local Army representative Sfc. James H. Johnson, the Army is offering its enlisted men and women the opportunity to develop a second vocation or improve their present skill through its Vocational-Technical Training Program.

"It used to be enlistees didn't have the opportunity to learn an additional, or marketable skill until they had just about over," he said.

"Now they'll have the chance to learn a new skill or increase their proficiency in their present skill while they still have plenty of time to go in the service."

"This not only enhances their promotion eligibility but also expands their civilian employment opportunities if they decide to leave the Army after their enlistment."

Some of the skill areas being offered in the program include auto body technology, welding, electronics technology, computer data processing and practical nursing.

Student Accepted At New Hampshire

Donald Thompson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Thompson of Uniontown, has been accepted for admission to New Hampshire College in Manchester, N. H., for the fall semester, in the four-year business management program.

He is a graduate of Paigunp High School in New Jersey and has also attended Fisher College in Lincoln, Maine.
